

WOOLDRIDGE BOATS

Seattle, WA.

Location

1303 South 96th St.
Seattle, Washington

Project Description

Wooldridge Boats is a 3rd generation family business that was forced to relocate their Seattle business because of the Sound Transit project. The Wooldridge family first hired SEA CON as their relocation consultant, based on the recommendation of our other business relocation clients. SEA CON was later hired as Wooldridge Boats design-build construction manager/general contractor.

The Wooldridge family purchased an existing 37,000 square foot warehouse in the South Park industrial district in Seattle. The project included a complete office build-out, east elevation canopy addition, and warehouse structural upgrades/modifications.

Actual Work Performed

Relocation consultant, Construction manager/General contractor

Architect

PKJB Architectural Group PS

Owner

Wooldridge Family

